Oriented to the north-east and set on a secluded parcel with tranquil river outlooks, the home is a modern reimagining of the Queenslander—one that celebrates light, space and connection to landscape. Timber, glass and louvres work in harmony to dissolve the boundaries between indoors and out, creating a residence that is as refined as it is liveable.

Upon entry, the sense of scale is immediate. Double-height living and dining spaces are bathed in natural light, framed by floor-to-ceiling glazing that captures greenery at every turn. The interplay of volume and warmth is masterfully balanced, anchored by a sculptural fireplace that invites moments of pause, gathering and quiet reflection.

At the heart of the home, the kitchen is both functional and expressive—centred around a striking timber island and complemented by stone benchtops, stainless steel appliances and gas cooking. Designed for effortless entertaining and everyday living, it flows seamlessly to a generous rear deck via expansive glass doors, creating a refined yet relaxed environment for hosting or unwinding amid the surrounding canopy of green.

Accommodation is thoughtfully arranged across two levels, offering flexibility and privacy. Four bedrooms provide versatility for families, professionals or downsizers alike. The lower level features a beautifully appointed guest suite and a multi-purpose room that opens to the living space—equally suited as a home office, library or fourth bedroom, complete with a built-in window seat and serene river glimpses.

Upstairs, the main retreat enjoys a loft-like ambience, overlooking the living spaces and treetops through timber louvres. A generous walk-in robe and an elegant bathroom—designed to function as both en-suite and shared space—complete this refined sanctuary. A second upstairs bedroom offers further flexibility, ideal for family or guests.

Every detail has been considered to enhance comfort and longevity: elevated louvres for passive ventilation, skylights to draw in natural light, split-system air conditioning, solar panels, quality cabinetry, termite-resistant cladding and commercial-grade sliding doors—ensuring the home remains as practical as it is beautiful.
