Rarely does a property of this scale and grandeur come to market. Set behind an electric front gate at the top of a garden lined driveway, this is a residence that announces itself long before you reach the front door. Complete privacy in a tropical setting, with sweeping lawns and mountain views beyond.

Some homes are built to impress. This one is built to last generations. Set on a sprawling 4,802sqm parcel, this architecturally substantial residence delivers a generous 947sqm internal footprint - purpose-designed for families who want everyone under one roof, without ever giving up privacy, independence, or luxury.

Whether you're housing parents, adult children, guests, or running a lifestyle property that doubles as a private retreat, this estate delivers rare, genuine dual-living scale - not a converted granny flat, but a fully resolved second dwelling with its own kitchen, bathrooms and living space.
