RESTORED LISMORE GEM

Discover a beautifully restored piece of Lismore's history with this character-filled weatherboard home, once the original St Carthage's primary school library. Lovingly refurbished, this home blends historical charm with modern elegance, offering a rare opportunity to own a truly unique property out of the flood zone.

As you step inside, you will see the newly polished timber floors, brought back to their original glory. Soaring high ceilings, elegant panelled walls and stunning ornate ceilings, freshly painted to perfection.

From the entry, you are lead into the family lounge and a grand hallway, complemented by gorgeous chandeliers. This home features four generous bedrooms, three with built-in wardrobes, all fitted with plush new carpets. In addition, 2 bedrooms with air conditioners along with the sunroom and the lounge room having air conditioning units. The spacious, renovated kitchen boasts timber benchtops, modern appliances and a layout designed for both functionality and style. Original timber sash windows and a timber ornate fireplace enhances the home's blend of character and modern updates.

The bathroom has been completely renovated with a separate bath and all-new plumbing. Downstairs, you'll find abundant storage, a second toilet and the laundry. A fully concreted backyard leads to a double carport, offering low-maintenance living without sacrificing space.

A true gem of Lismore, this home offers the perfect balance of history, character and modern comfort. Contact us today for a private inspection, it's vacant and ready for its new buyer!
