The desirable north facing four-bedroom home is architecturally designed on passive solar design principles to provide year-round comfort with direct sunshine warming stylish and practical polished concrete floors in cooler months, whilst extensive covered decks provide essential shade, and louvre windows allow the cooling forest breezes to flow throughout the home in summer.

Designed for both family living and as a peaceful retreat, the heart of the home offers a generous, sunlit open-plan living, dining and kitchen area, plus a separate multi-purpose room. Both spaces flow out to expansive decks overlooking established landscaped gardens surrounded by tranquil forest. A private parents' wing provides a quiet sanctuary. At the opposite end of the home are three additional bedrooms for the children; or as accommodation for guests, or home office/hobby room, plus a bathroom and laundry.

A few steps from the home are the 3-car carport and workshop and purpose-built storage for kayaks and surfboards. Property features include solar power with battery storage; large underground rainwater storage as well as connection to town water; an established vegetable garden; chook house plus a variety of fruit trees.

Located within easy reach of the property are beautiful beaches; the natural beauty of Bongil Bongil National Park's walking and bike trails; the vibrant townships of Bellingen, Mylestom, Urunga & Sawtell are all within easy reach, plus the coastal city of Coffs Harbour's major regional airport is a 20-minute drive away. The location offers a multitude of options for excellent choices for schools, shopping, dining, entertainment and essential services.
