With 1940s charm and big ocean views, this creatively styled gem enjoys a unique sense of peace and privacy.
An easy walk to Avalon Village, Bilgola Beach (and on the express bus route to the city!) this is an unusual offering that will inspire creative souls especially.

The main house - built in the 1940s - has a spectacular sandstone lower level, the upper level with a bright, light, living room, raked ceilings and a fabulous high quality galley kitchen is where the heart of the home begins. Outside the living area is a very groovy timber deck with jaw-dropping views to Bilgola beach and the big blue Pacific beyond.

There are three good sized bedrooms, including a large main bedroom with walk-in-robe and a leafy view to Bilgola Beach. Main bathroom with bath and recently renovated second bathroom with laundry on the lower level.

If you're searching for something special and possess a romantic (yet pragmatic) sensibility...do not miss this one, you'll love it!

Separately available onsite for lease is a self-contained one-bedroom pavilion, privately positioned with separate access. This is a testament to renowned Australian architect Peter Stutchbury's early work. It seamlessly blends with the natural surrounds, including an ice bath and sauna for the added experience.
