Opportunities like this almost never pop up - a sweeping stretch of countryside crowned by its very own mountain, offering an outlook that simply stops you in your tracks. This is the kind of land people dream about... wide-open spaces, endless privacy, and views that feel like they belong on a postcard.

From the high points of the property, you can take in a panorama that's nothing short of magic - the sparkling lights of Toowoomba in the distance, the vast shimmer of Wivenhoe Dam, and the soft rise of the Minden Ranges wrapping around the horizon. It's peaceful, it's powerful, and it's one of the most spectacular vantage points you'll ever set foot on.

The land itself is beautifully versatile. There are multiple spots that would be perfect for your future dream home, whether you want level ground or gentle slopes. Horse lovers will appreciate the space for riding or an arena, and with four dams plus generous rainwater storage, the property is already well suited to livestock, hobby farming, or simply enjoying your own countryside sanctuary.

Internal fencing, small stables, and animal enclosures mean you can bring the goats, cattle, or other furry friends along for the adventure.

And while the land is the headline act here, the cute cottages add so much charm and practicality.

Two off-grid weekenders sit tucked into the landscape - simple, welcoming, and perfectly positioned to soak in those views. The main cottage comes with a full kitchen, fireplace, bedrooms, bathroom, study, laundry, and a sunny little room made for morning coffees. The master even opens to a deck with a clawfoot bath under the stars - a little slice of rustic luxury you didn't know you needed. Solar power with impressive battery storage keeps everything running smoothly, and an eco toilet and full insulation make off-grid living surprisingly comfortable.
