This unique low set brick home has not hit the open market in almost 22 years and sits proudly on an 874m2 corner block in one of Ipswich's best streets.

Hidden from prying eyes by established plants and hedges this home is a true surprise package just waiting for you and your extended family to explore.

Once inside you will soon discover soaring cathedral ceilings with exposed beams, a semi split level floor plan plus generous amounts of natural light provided by several feature windows.

The kitchen of the home whilst original is large by any buyer's standards and offers an island bench, dishwasher, large pantry and a ceramic cooktop with electric oven.

The living areas featured in the home are ultra inviting and include a designated dining space, formal lounge and a kids retreat or rumpus room.

There are four genuine bedrooms showcased and all four boast built-in robes with the master having its very own walk-in robe and air-conditioner.

The main bathroom is functional with a separate bath and shower plus a separate toilet for ease of living.

The master bedroom shares a bathroom with the fourth bedroom and also has its own study area making it an ideal retreat for the work from home buyer.

As mentioned this home may appeal to buyers looking for dual or separate living due to its unique floor plan as the fourth bedroom and games room could easily be used as a semi granny flat as it has its own external access and air conditioned lounge area.
